

Disclaimer

Disclaimer of liability

All of the information contained on our Internet pages has been carefully researched and verified by IACS (International Airport Coordination Support) or a third party. However, neither IACS nor third parties accept liability for the correctness, completeness or currency of information on this website. In addition, no liability of any kind, implied or expressed, is assumed by IACS for the content of other Internet websites to which visitors can access via a hyperlink.

Use of website

The contents and layout of this website are protected by copyright. The pages and their contents may only be duplicated with the prior written consent of IACS

The information provided on this website is a service performed by IACS for visitors to its website. Please take note of any additional information outlined on the pages.